Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Namely for claims 1, 9 and 18, as the claims are presently worded, important structural interconnections between the hinge pin, hinge connectors, locking pin, handle portion and spring that allow them to work together and form a locking mechanism for the hinge assembly are missing, i.e. it is unclear how these features work together to lock the table top portions in a working position. For example, against what feature is the second end of the spring biased/ attached to allow the spring/first end thereof to function properly. For claims 3 and 12, "the locked position" and "the unlocked position" lack antecedent basis. Also for claims 9 and 18, "the working position" lacks antecedent basis. For claim 11, it is misdescriptive to state that the spring is coupled to one of the first leg or second leg.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1, 9 and 18 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action. (The allowable subject matter being the specific folding table hinge assembly claimed, i.e. the hinge assembly including a hinge pin; a first hinge connector with a cam, the connector being attached between a portion of the table and the hinge pin; a second hinge connector with a locking slot, the connector being attached between another portion of the table and the hinge pin; a locking pin disposed in the locking slot; a handle portion having a first end coupled to the locking pin; and a spring having a first end biased against the locking pin. Please note 112 rejections above. Also note reference of Jin 2004/0094076 wherein a similar hinge assembly is claimed. The feature not found in Jin being the spring.)

Claims 2-8 and 10-17 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
